

Brianna Murray's 5 Year Plan

	Personal	Educational	Professional
Year 1 2018-2019	Get a job during the summer break that will allow me to rebuild my savings account.	Complete my internship with Sew n' Sew during my spring semester.	Attend the 2018 FCCLA National Conference in Atlanta, GA. Win GOLD!
Year 2 2019-2020	Apply for jobs during college to afford doing three semesters in a row. Begin looking during the fall of 2018.	Maintain grades so that I can receive a scholarship for the year.  Take more than 15 credits each semester so I can be done with classes before I student teach in the fall 2019.	Stay a member of FCCLA and ACTE. Run for an officer position in FCS Society or FCCLA.  Shadow or do extra teaching experiences in local classrooms.
Year 3 2020-2021	Work on building relationships with family and friends. Work on networking in order to find teaching jobs.	Finish up my Bachelor's degree at BYU-I. Begin looking at opportunities to get a Master's degree if circumstances allow.	Begin looking for a teaching job once student teaching is complete.
Year 4 2021-2022	Live on my own/with a spouse and beginning planning for a family. Travel to fun and exotic places during summer breaks.	Have lesson plans complete in a timely manner for my classes. Try not to become overwhelmed with the pressure of being a new teacher.	Be an FCS teacher and have an FCCLA chapter that I can take to a state conference.
Year 5 2022-2023	Begin a family. Stay at home if needed.  Teach sewing/ cooking lessons or sell handmade goodies online.	Once I become more confident with my teaching, start looking for field trips to take students. Preferably to the industry.	Stay a member of FCCLA and ACTE. If still teaching, make an advisory board and apply for grants to improve education in the classroom.
